John, Felix and the guys did an AWESOME job!!!! The first night, they waited until the departments were each finished up before they started, and then they went to work. They even stayed until after 12:00 midnight to get every thing ready for the next day. They were back bright and early the next morning and by the end of the day they were finished.

Actually, the only way we new that we were getting a new phone system, was that we saw those guys running around here, because it was seamless!

Thank you,

Robert Stalnaker

Forgot to ask you last week. How is the new phone system working? Did Verge do a good job? Are the body shop phones fixed now?
